

YR8 SOL – Drawing & Painting the face

Aim – Pupils will learn how to draw the face. First using guidelines to achieve the correct proportions, then look at shape and form focussing on the features. Pupils will use pencil then go onto charcoals and chinks. They will work from observation, use mirrors and draw their own face from a photograph. Pupils will then master mixing skin tones and learn about cultures, and how their geographic position has an impact on their skin and their lives. All skin tones will be mixed, then students can paint their own choice of a portrait. Artist will be studied to look at different approaches and styles. Students will work in sketchbooks and on A3/A2 paper.

Project context

- Artists research – Historic and contemporary portraits. Lucien Freud, Chuck Close, Freda Kahlo, Kehinde Wiley, Robert Arneson, Elizabeth Louise Vigee Le Brun, Andy Warhol, Van Gogh
- Investigation drawings –Pupils will research from the internet, work from each other and use mirrors and photographs of their friends, families, celebrities and selves. They will draw from life, look at historical cartoon caricatures and also explore conceptual and contemporary portraits.
- Material experiments –Pupils will use a variety of materials ranging from graphite pencil, charcoals and chinks, paints, washes, oil pastels, collage, photographs and observation.
- Planning & designing –Pupils will learn how to draw the face in proportion then go onto add tone and texture. This will lead onto paint then and exploring mixing all skin tones. We will look at portraits and their function and go onto plan your own portrait. Pupils will start by working on the exploring and experimenting in their sketchbooks then go onto work on A3,A2 A1 paper. The final work will be displayed around the school in an exhibition.

All pupils should be able to;

Use the guidelines to draw the face

Draw a face in proportion

Know how to draw the features

Add tone and texture to a face

Be able to name and give info on 2-3 portraiture artists

Plan and paint a portrait

Be able to annotate using prompts, word banks and ex pupil example work for reference.

Most pupils will be able to;

Use the guidelines to draw the face which looks realistic

Draw a face in proportion and understand the guidelines

Know how to draw the features and work from observation/mirror

Add tone and texture to a face using a full tonal range

Be able to name and give info on 3-4 portraiture artists and give personal opinions and comments

Plan and paint a portrait, annotate it and use a range of colours, paints, brushstrokes and experiment with composition and materials. Be able to annotate using a good vocab range

Some pupils will be able to;

Use the guidelines to draw the face which looks realistic and resembles a real person.

Draw a face in proportion and understand the guidelines and remember them

Know how to draw the features and work from observation/mirror considering light, proportion, viewpoint and expressions.

Add tone and texture to a face using a full tonal range in graphite and charcoals and chalk so it looks like it has shape, texture and form.

Be able to name and give info on 4-5 plus portraiture artists and give personal opinions and comments. Pupils will independently find their own artists who inspire their work and be able to tell me why.
