In the 21st century, competence in a different language and intercultural understanding are an essential part of being an active citizen. Learning a language opens a world of new possibilities and opportunities. Through language learning, we promote pupils' curiosity, problem solving skills and broaden their understanding, not only of their own identity and culture, but also that of other countries. We are building pupils' communication and literacy skills and preparing them for a globalised world of work.

We have recently adopted the Dr Gianfranco Conti approach based upon his Extensive Processing Instruction (EPI) method to allow students to gain confidence and fluency and prepare them for the demands of the GCSE course from the start of Key Stage 3.

Our approach is separated into 4 key areas: modelling/awareness raising to learn language; receptive processing to develop decoding skills and fluency; structured production to produce the target language in a structured and safe context; expansion and spontaneity to develop fluency and spontaneity.
